Foraging at WEI
Wild Food and Folk Medicine- Fall
September 4th 10:00-5:00
Instructor: Tanna Worrell, the Friendly Forager
Registration Fee: $85 each

Intro to Four Season Organic Farming - Fall
Saturday Sept 18 9:00-4:30
Instructor: Jacquelyn Zita, WEI Farm Manager
Registration Fee: $75 or $250 for all four

Environmental Health and Herbalism - Level 2
October 9th-10th
Instructor: Gigi Stafne MH, ND, Green Wisdom School of Natural & Botanical Medicine
Registration Fee: $295

Take the next step in naturopathic principles, environmental health, and herbalism in this Level 2 course. Natural and botanical medicine and holistic health principles are woven together to assist in the healing we need from stressors and the ongoing bombardment of environmental toxins and community violence.

A Year of Aquaponics
Second Sunday of every month, October - May
Instructor: Chad Hebert
Registration Fee: $285
Grow fish and greens. Interested in pursuing a career in Aquaculture or growing fish in your basement? This course will give you the foundation for many future plans. Learn to grow fish and greens together by working hands-on in WEI's indoor four-season closed ecosystem.

Kombucha Brewing
Saturday, October 2nd 1:30-4:00
Instructors: Tanna Worrell
Registration Fee: $55 or $75 for Sauerkraut & Kombucha
Come get up close and personal with your own SCOBY, and start brewing your own tasty, delicious, nutritious beverage! Tanna is a Wild Food enthusiast, so besides 'regular' brewing, she will show you how to incorporate wild-crafted components into your brew.

Hemp Farming Intensive
Saturday, November 20th 10:00-4:00
Instructors: Angela Dawson and Davey Johnson
Registration Fee: $75
This class is for students seriously thinking about growing Hemp in the next 2022 season. Find out everything you need to know to prepare for this venture from experienced hemp growers from the 40 Acre Cooperative.

Hops Farming Intensive
Sunday, November 21st 10:00-4:00
Instructor: Eric Anderson, St. Croix Valley Hops
Registration Fee: $75
This class is for students seriously thinking about growing Hops. Learn from a professional what you need to know to prepare for this venture- everything from market requirements to pest management and yard management.

Mothers Day Open House & Celebration
May 8th- Join us for a day of music, pizza, farm tours, and classes focused on women's health. Check out our website for more info and to RSVP.

Special Classes for Women, Mothers, and Daughters
Saturday, May 8th
Instructor: Gigi Stafne MH, ND, Green Wisdom School of Natural & Botanical Medicine
Registration Fee: $20 each or $50 for all three
Join us for one, two, or three classes with Master Herbalist-Naturopath Gigi Stafne.

12th Annual Will Allen Farmer Training Weekend
September 25-26th
Registration Info: $275/person
Deadline: September 19, 2021
Welcome to the 12th Annual Will Allen Farmer Training Weekend with the theme of 100 Days of Food: Grow, Harvest, Preserve guided by the initiative to put 100 days of food into every American pantry. Workshops will provide participants with hands-on knowledge.